EXPERIENCE

With over 25 years of practical experience in the museum, arts and heritage sector I've gained a wide ranging understanding of the issues you face. From working as a collections manager project managing the move of a large social history and archaeology collection, through to delivering outdoor education sessions, creating exhibitions, writing grant applications and strategy, I've probably been there.

Until fairly recently I was Hertfordshire's Museum Development Officer and I currently sit on the board of directors of a couple of museums. These roles have enabled me to gain in-depth experience and knowledge of a range of different types of museums.

CAN I HELP?

Whether it's a new education workshop or type of outreach, rationalising and re-organising collections, someone to write a strategy, finding funds for a new project, or an emergency pair of hands, I'm the person you need.

I charge very reasonable fees and I'm happy to discuss your project whether we work together or not.
